

SAFETY TRAINING COORDINATOR

ERMCO's safety training coordinator plays a crucial role in ensuring the safety and well-being of our employees as they work in challenging construction environments. They are the first line of communication to ensure employees are well-informed about electrical safety practices and ERMCO's culture of safety. They monitor and assess safety compliance and continuously improve safety training protocols to mitigate hazards before they become an issue.

IF YOU ARE:

- ◆ Organized, careful and neat - the ability to plan, schedule, and manage safety training programs and resources with accuracy is critical.
- ◆ Tech savvy - willing to adapt and take advantage of new technology including video software and database management.
- ◆ Analytical - the ability to assess risks, incidents, and training needs, and make data-driven decisions is key to improving safety outcomes.
- ◆ Innovative - willing to stay up-to-date on industry best practices, emerging safety trends, and evolving regulations, and create solutions and training methods with that knowledge.

AND YOU:

- ◆ Like variety – ERMCO performs all types of projects that vary greatly in size, scope and market.
- ◆ Are passionate about safety – safety is a top priority for ERMCO and you will need to be an advocate for a culture of safety within the organization.
- ◆ Communicate effectively – with team members, owners, clients and vendors, and have the ability to handle questions and concerns timely and professionally.
- ◆ Want to work for an industry leader – ERMCO is a top 50 electrical contractor in the United States.
